Yuri Gagarin

Yuri Gagarin was born on the 9th of March, 1934 in the village Klushino, Smolensk Oblast. Yuri's parents were very busy, so his sister spent much time with Yuri helping their parents to bring him up. The World War II was an extremely difficult time for Gagarin's family. They had to live through many disasters.

After finishing school Gagarin decided to become an engineer. In 1951 Gagarin graduated from a vocational school in Lyubertsy. He was a very smart and hard-working student. He continued his studies at a technical school in Saratov. Like many youths of his age, Yuri dreamed to fly into space. In Saratov he started to attend the AeroClub which brought him nearer to his dream. Yuri possessed all the necessary qualities which the profession of a pilot required. He was calm, attentive and responsible.

After finishing Pilot's School in Orenburg Yuri became a pilot. In 1960 Yuri Gagarin and other pilots were set several tests allowing specialists to choose a person able to fly into space. So, Yuri Gagarin was selected for this mission.

On April 12, 1961 he flew into space and became a pioneer of space exploration. His first flight made Gagarin famous all over the world. And, of course, Yuri became a true hero for millions of Russian boys whose dream was to follow his example – to grow up and become cosmonauts.

Yuri Gagarin died on March 27, 1968. On that day Russia lost one of its greatest heroes.
